Communication & Media Arts Audition Information

Each candidate will present and discuss their portfolio, create and present a 2 minute story based on 5 images randomly selected from a set of 30, and participate in an interview.

Students studying communications and media arts at the CAA will explore a wide variety of creative areas, including film, video, photography, software, video games, television, radio, writing, animation, digital publishing, and graphic design. We are looking for students who will:

- Be a storyteller – have vision, creativity, and imagination
- Be able to engage and understand technology use and its practical applications
- Listen to and accept constructive criticism

What to bring to your audition

- Bring your e-portfolio, containing a sample of something we can see (poem, photography), something we can hear (speech, radio spot) and something we can see and hear (video, PowerPoint).
- Be prepared to create a 2-minute story based on 5 random images selected from 30.

What to include in your portfolio

- Include something we can see (photo, design, poem, very short story)
- Include something we can hear (speech, spoken word, sound recording)
- Include something we can see and hear (video, PowerPoint)
- Be prepared to talk about the following regarding your portfolio:
 - Which piece is your best? Why?
 - In which media/form is your work strongest? Why?
 - Which is your favorite? Why?
 - Is there a media or form you would like to try but haven't yet?
 - Why did you create each piece? Were any of them assignments?
 - What kind of subjects do you like to explore on your own?
